SCHOOLBOYS SENT HOME FOR INDECENT CLOTHING

Superintendent of Schools Harold Shea told the School Committee last night that the implications of the Massachusetts Education Commission Report, of a week ago, meant Money.

With a particular survey as to how it affected Wilmington, Shea found that it meant the expenditure of $1,602,000, partly on a one-time basis, i.e. buildings, and partly on a recurring basis.

He said that it would be necessary for the State to find a source of money before the program could be implemented, in Wilmington or anywhere else.

Kindergartens

The cost to Wilmington, of the recommended program on kindergartens would be $480,000 for 12 classrooms, $72,000 a year for 12 teachers, and $10,00 a year for maintenance and operation.

It was, he said, very desirable and worth while, particularly with respect to school readiness for the children, but also expensive

65 Year Old Buildings

The proposal to replace all of the school buildings over 65 years old would cost the town $520,000 13 classrooms would have to be constructed to replace those in the Center, Walker, West and Whitefield Schools, although the latter school is 60 years old.

It is a program that is long over due, Shea said, but the town had all it could do to built for growth, and the replacement program has had to be deffered.

50 Professionals

The proposal that there be 50 professionals for every 1,000 elementary teachers would call for approximately 120 teachers, based on 2,450 students. At the present time the staff is 100. Add 20 more of all types, teachers, counselors, librarians, and curriculum specialists, and 10 more classrooms, would mean $120,000 a year for the teachers, and $400,000 for the classrooms.

The town's ratio is 40 teachers to 1000 pupils, or 1 to 25. The proposed ratio of 1 to 20 may be

The Police were acting under emergency powers, as voted by the Board of Selectmen Monday evening. Glen Road will be blocked off while children are on their way to, or coming from the Glen Road Achool, for 30 days, under the vote of the Selectmen.

DUBIOUS DISTINCTIONS OF 1964

In a spirit of whimsey, an attempt should be made to award suitable recognition to some of the fine people of Wilmington who, during 1964, succeeded in one way or another, in opening their mouth and putting in both feet.

Such things can happen to most people, but suitable recognition is more rare, and is hereby offered.

The Wilmington Golden Age Perfect Attendance Ribbon the Housing Authority member Eddie Forrest, for his attendance record of the past six months

The Wilmington Little League Lou Gehrig Medal to Town Counsel Philip Buzzell, for his prediction that the Tax Payer's Injunction would never get to First Base.

The Wilmington Boosters Marching Trophy to Selectman Lloyd Bender, for his athletic feats at Selectmen's meetings.

The Wilbur Wright Winged Epaulet to Selectman John Brooks, for his declaration that there never was any danger that the North Wilmington post office would be closed.

The Mystic Order of the Baggy Pants to High School Vice Principal Harold E Driscoll, for improving the attire of High School boys.

The Wilmington Public Library Literary Medallion, to Finance Committee Chairman Dick Barry, for his undying prose, in his reply to Messrs Niles and Burt.

The Wilmington Lions Club Unblinking Eye Certificate to Principal Assessor Fred Grimes, for valuing the Wilmington Railroad Depot at $30,900

The Richard S Todd Ribbon for Sartorial Splendor to Police Chief Paul Lynch, for his distinctive styling of men's trousers, at the Hillview Country Club, in North Reading.

The Department of Utter Confusion Medal, (with Oak Leaf) to the Wilmington Post Office, for the design of a parking lot where every car has to back up.

The Hopeful Sally Statuette, to Town Manager Gerald Bouchard, for his optimistic manner of approach, at the annual Town Meeting of 1964.

The Crusader Rabbit Award, to the League of Women Voters, for their highly successful efforts at stirring up voter interest.

The Mickey Mouse Watchfob, to the Planning Board, for having two majority reports, in a Town Meeting.

And, lastly, the Boutwell School Third Grade Spelling Award to the Town Crier, for its sustained original contributions to the art of spelling.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

The Board of Selectmen, Monday night, voted to close off Glen Road, for a 30 day period, in the morning and evenings to safeguard children on their way to and from the Glen Road School.

Eighteen Glen Road and nearby residents were present st the meeting, along with Police Chief Paul J. Lynch, to take part in a discussion that lasted three - quarters of an hour.

One of the suggestions, started by Mrs. Warren Leathers, was that Garden Ave. be improved, and that a pedway be constructed from the end of Brattle Street to the school. Mrs. Leathers did not get an opportunity to finish her statement, but Town Manager Bouchard indicated he thought the idea was good.

Charles Landry, of Fay Street, too, thought the idea was good, but didn't put too much faith in getting the job done. He was anxious that something be done at this time to protect the children.

Chief of Police Paul Lynch was opposed to a suggestion making Glen Road a one way street, and further to a suggestion that it be one way during certain hours. It would be creating a hazard, he said, rather than correcting a problem. He told the Board that Mrs. Leathers had been to the police station to talk over the problem, and that she too, agreed that a one way street would increase hazards.

Lynch suggested closing Glen Road from Main Street to Harnden Street, and making it permanently one way.

Selectman Bender asked for an estimate on the cost of constructing sidewalks. Bouchard told him that the houses on Glen Road were too close, the street was too narrow, and that there would be land takings and a possible removal of some homes.

TM Bouchard stressed that he felt that no encouragement should be given to the people of Glen Rd and again he mentioned the pedway and Garden Avenue. Garden Avenue has been petitioned for betterments, and will be voted on in the annual town meeting.

Mrs Barbara Sullivan, one of the original sponsors of the sidewalk article that was presented a year ago at the town meeting, suggested to the Selectmen that the sidewalk did not have to be a large one, or paved, just so the children had a safe place to walk. This, she said, was the intent of the article when it was submitted.

Bouchard, towards the end of the discussion, said that sidewalks cost about $4.50 a running foot.

Lally Betterments

Mrs Lally, of High Street, owner of four houselots on which her home sits, was at the Selectmen's meeting with her attorney, a Mr. Kasalowski. She was charged Betterments for the two back lots, when Pleasnat Street was constructed, and has been asking for an abatement. It has been denied.

The Board heard Mrs Lally and her attorney, and with the exception of Lloyd Bender expressed their sympathies. Mr. Bender, instead, made a motion to abate the Betterments. It was not seconded.

Kasalowski told the Board that he felt it was being unfair, and he was told by Selectman Black that he could not see how the board could grant an abantement, in fairness to other taxpayers.

The question was raised as to whether or not the construction of Pleasant Street had improved the Lally land, and correspondence of the Town Counsel, which said it had been improved, was cited.

Thirty five minutes were spent discussing the problem, after which the board agreed to take it under consideration.

Licenses

A Common Victualer's license was granted to Jack Parr, 139 Main Street, subject to the usual approval of the Board of Health

An application from the Lee H Long Associates of Main Street was tabled until the board could determine the status of the license

Selectman Brooks suggested that in renewing licenses for places that serve food, they be accompanied by a written report from the Police, Fire Department, and the Board of Health. He said that the board should know if there had been any mysterious fires or disturbances where the Police had to be notified. This same motion was made, and voted last April.

New House Lot Sizes

TM Bouchard advised the Selectmen that a new bill in the Mass. Senate (#276) would derogate substantially from the town's zoning laws, as it affects single residence zoning.

The proposed law would have a frontage of seventy five feet, in new real estate developments.

The board heard the report with alarm, and agreed to instruct Rep Fred F Cain to oppose the bill, and further agreed that they should ask the people of Wilmington to write to their representative and voice opinions against the bill.

FRED CAIN FIRST REPRESENTATIVE NAMED BY HOUSE SPEAKER

Fred F. Cain, who was sworn into office yesterday, as a member of the House of Representatives of the Massachusetts Legislature, received his greatest surprise when his name was the first mentioned by House Speaker John F. X. Davoren, in the appointment of committees.

Mr. Cain was named the Chairman of the committee which traditionally conveys to the Senate the results of the House election.

LETTER

Dear Larz,

I would like to bring to light that which I think is an appalling situation in the town of Wilmington. Originally (seven years ago), I came from the city of Malden, not because I wanted to move from Malden but because Wilmington had land I could afford to buy. After living in Wilmington these past years I would prefer it to most cities and towns I have seen or heard about; in other words, I feel Wilmington is a great place to live in.

The situation I am writing about is the youth organization in town; I find it shocking and disgusting. Because of a lack of 'parent cooperation', The Wilmington Youth Canteen operation had to be suspended; the Canteen had a membership of over 250 boys and girls, but no parents to help. Other clubs have the same problem. The Skating Club of Wilmington which gave the town national recognition, needed parental help; there was one Boy Scout troop sponsered by Hathaway Acres Association that needed help from the parents. I wonder how many people think of these things when they read the papers and find stories of the drop at Silver Lake and also, the two police officers that were assaulted and injured.

We now have a fine Drum and Bugle Corps with approximately 100 boys and girls and are fortunate to have it run by a competent five or six couples; not really enough but better than the other organizations that had to quit.

Last summer, on the way home from a contest in Fitchburg, (the Crusader Drum & Bugle Corps came in second), we passed by De Moulas parking lot where there were two police cars and a large crowd of boys. We didn't know what was going on, but those police cars were taken away from their regular rounds and duties to break up that crowd. About 70 boys and girls were with us, who, without the corps, possibly may have been involved in that crowd.

Every competition that we have attended involves approximately 1000 to 1500 boys and girls not counting the spectators. For example, during the time of the Hampton Beach riots, there was a competition not too far away in Beverly that had an attendance of 15,000 people plus 1500 youth as contestants. How many of these people might have been at Hampton Beach if this competition had not been held?

Too many people in Wilmington have an averse attitude not only to the youth of the town but to the town itself. Our corps arranged for a cake sale at De Moulas, one Saturday morning, baking cakes themselves and getting donations from friends. While we were setting up the table, some women passed, saw our sign, and said, 'those Crusaders again'. This is the attitude of many adults towards an organization that is trying to eliminate delinquency. Does anyone realize that at least $1800.00 is needed every year to operate the Crusader Corps?

Too many youth are serving time in the Billerica House of Correction because the people and therefor the town itself, find it not in their standards to have anything to do with teenagers either by participating in or helping to support youth activities.

I have been given to understand that it is not only outside actitivities, such as ours, but churches seem to have the same situation. If this attitude persists, the youth of Wilmington have a dim outlook for the future.

75 Professionals

The recomending of 75 Professional teachers for every 1000 Secondary Students is about the ratio that the town now has, Shea said.

In Wilmington it would mean a staff of 90, and the town now has a staff of 88. The town is in good shape in this regard, due to the steady build up in the English, Guidance, and Special Program staffs during the past four years.

Incentive Aids

The proposal to provide incentive aids and catergorical aids for special programs, for towns, would be of beneifit to the town, because of the summer school program and the work-study program already instituted in Wilmington. The Secondary Guidance, and Grouping Pattern, and the Pattern for gifted students at Elementary level is needed, when numbers and conditions permit.

185 School Day Year

The proposal to lengthen the school year to 185 (present it is 180) would mean only mnor cost increases in transportation and supplies, for Wilmington.

Shea could seen no problem on this point, but recommended that consideration be given to eliminating a 5 day vacation, between the Christmas vacation and the close of school in June, lest the regular school year run into July. This could happen if cancellations of school were high because of stormy weather conditions, and would be a conflict with the summer school program.

Raise School Age

Commenting on the proposal to raise the mandatory school age to 17, within two years, and to 18 within four years, Shea said that it was still too early to tell.

The propsal would speed up the vocational and technical school completion dates, would call for a more diversified program at the high school level. The present work study program of the Wilmington schools is a step in the right direction, Shea said.

Update State Aid

The proposal to update the state aid formula for towns and cities means that there should be more study, Shea said. If the existing formula is merely updated, and tied in with the town's 100% valuation of real estate, Wilmington would gain but little.

Shea was in favor of the NESDEC (New England Secondary Schools) formula, whihc was proposed in 1963, and is based on a town's efforts, in addition to its ability to pay.

New State Boards

The proposal to create and/or replace State Boards, and/or councils found Shea a little dubious.

It was a proposition, he said, that called for more study.

There would be no direct fiscal effect on Wilmington, but the long range effect would mean the lessening of School Committee control over educational policy, curriculum, and such things.

Home Rule would practically dis appear under such circumstances he said.

Overriding Conclusion

Shea said, in conclusion, as he said at the beginnng of his report that unless there are Money Bills in the Legislative branch of the state government, to accompany the commission's recommendations, the financial burdens on the towns would be colossal.

Trousers

High School Principal Bernard McMahon appeared to report on the efforts of the High School to create a better style of dress, among the High School boys.

McMahon told the School Committee that he had told the students last Thanksgiving that after New Years the wearing of tight trousers, tight around the hips and upper portion of the legs, would not be allowed.

On Tuesday he and Mr Driscoll had inspected the High school boys, class by class, in the High School cafeteria.

If a boy's pants were deemed improper his name was taken, and he was informed that on Wednesday he should be wearing proper attire.

McMahon made it clear that the pants of boys should not only cover, but they should conceal.

Yesterday morning, an inspections showed that six boys had paid no attention to the warning.

Two of these were sent home, McMahon told the committee.

He reported too that he had had 15 phone calls from parents, in which most of the calls were quite reasonable. Some of the boys did not even tell their parents - they just got another pair of pants which were acceptable to wear in school.

Mr and Mrs Israel Belofsky of Hopkins Street, who have two High School boys, came to the meeting to learn what it was all about.

Mrs Belofsky felt that the boys did not know what part of the pants were under inspection - the bottom or the top of the leg, and that some seemed to feel that tight legs were the objectionable part.

Mr Belofsky, who has an excellent sense of humor, felt that the situation provided a lot of excitement for the boys, and produced a situation which could lead to exageration. He stated that it was quite clear as to what was desired concerning clothes.

School Committee member Dick Keane asked if Mr McMahon was going to have an edict about girls clothing, and McMahon said he planned a committee of three women, with possible help from the student council, to consider and survey the clothing and hair styling of high school girls.

McMahon stated firmly that color or type of cloth was not the concern, but that decent coverage was.

Theft

The School Committee was told of a theft of some electronic equipment, on Nov 25th. According to the police report there was no evidence of breaking in, so it was assumed that entrance had been gained by a key.

Approximately $1100 in equipment was stolen.

He holds trusteeships in Belvidere school, banking and hospital affiliations. He and his wife, Madeline and their four children reside at 3 Hemlock Drive, Chelmsford.

BOOSTERS' BANQUET

The Wilmington High School Boosters' Athletic Association will hold their first banquet of the school year on Monday, Jan. 11 at 6 pm in the small cafeteria of the High School, honoring the Football team and their Cheerleaders, the girls' Field Hockey team, the Cross Country track team and the faculty coaches of these teams.

Salvatore Lippielo, President, will act as master of ceremonies and will award trophies to the Varsity players or 'Lettermen', except if the player is a Senior, then he or she will be awarded a sweater.

Unfortunately, this banquet is not open to the public, due to a lack of funds, but it is the aim of the Boosters to reward the athletes for a good job, well done; during the year, two more banquets and awards will be given to the High School Athletes, and in June at graduation, two $500. scholarships will be awarded.

The next meeting of the Boosters will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 20, at 8 pm in the small cafeteria of the high school. The public, especially parents of any high school student, is very welcome to attend this meeting.

The TM's proposals for the 1965 Town Meeting

Selectman Lloyd Bender, who some months ago declared his enmity against Town Manager Gerald Bouchard, complimented Bouchard, at the end of a Special Selectmen's Meeting, Tuesday night, for the 1965 Town Budget.

It was, Bender declared, 'an excellent job'.

The remark came at the end of the Selectmen's preliminary review of the 1965 budget, a document of 82 pages, which proposes the spending of about $4,000,000.

After the discussion of the budget there was one of some of the proposed warrant articles, with comments by the Town Manager. Bender suggested that the Town Manager reduce his comments to writing, not too involved, so that the Selectmen could have them for reference, in discussing the proposals with the voters.

Four of the Warrant articles ask for new cars for town department heads, expected to cost about $2400 apeice. Bouchard told the Selectmen that these people now receive $600 a year for using their own cars for town business, and that he believes that most of the employees would rather keep things as they are.

Four police cruisers will be asked for in the Town Meeting. Bouchard termed this a necessity. The cost will be about $6000.

He listed a new 1/2 ton pick up truck, at $2000, to replace the present 1951 International being used by the Highway Department.

Bouchard proposes to spend $3500 under Article 12 of the Warrant for the purchase of a hydraulically operated catch basin cleaner for the Highway Department. This will be mounted on an old chassis, he told the Selectmen.

There are now several hundred catch basins in town, Bouchard said, and they have to be cleaned twice a year, using manual labor. It involves quite a bit of manpower and the hydraulic cleaner would mechanize the operation.

Bouchard is asking for two heavy duty (25,000 GVW) Highway Trucks to be equipped for snow plowing. They will cost about $10,000 apeice Bouchard said. He remarked that the 1937 Walters Snow Fighters are now unsafe.

A request for a Power Sweeper, to cost $12,000, came into the 'desireable category' but is not absolutely needed, Bouchard said.

The tractor which the town purchased about four years ago to plow snow off sidewalks came in for some rough criticism from Bouchard.

It is not what the town needs, he said. There are a number of disadvantages, and it really requires two operators, the TM said, one to run the tractor, and one to run the pick up truck which follows the tractor and brings it back to the garage.

He said the tractor was slow, and wants to replace it with a snow plow that can do 20 miles an hour, and which the operator can take to or from the garage, without needing another operator. The snowplow which Bouchard proposes to buy will cost $3500. The tractor cost $5000.

Bouchard also wants to buy a stump pulling machine, which will cost $3500. He told the Selectmen that at present the job of removing stumps is being 'farmed out', and that with the expected life of the machines, the town could well afford to own one. Most of the streets in town, Bouchard said, are lined with trees, and he pointed to Burlington Avenue as an example. The cost of removing stumps is between $10 and $15 apeice.

The stump pulling machine he called 'desireable, but not a necessity'.

Bouchard is asking for a pick up truck, for the Maintainance Department, to cost $2000. He prefers one with a flat body, so that desks, etc may be easily moved. The present truck dates from 1950, and he told the Selectmen it is 'in tough shape'.

Bouchard is asking for another $5000 for the street drainage program. 15 problems were taken care of last year, he told the Selectmen, with a couple more to be completed, there being problems of easements.

Article 18 of the Warrant will call for $5000, to complete Roosevelt Road, from Swain Road northward for 1000 feet. The street was accepted in 1947, and has never been completed.

$25,000 will be asked of the voters, under Article 19, for sidewalk projects in Wilmington. The Town Manager reminded the Selectmen that he and the Superintendent of Schools were the Sidewalk Committee, and said that a written report, with recommendations, will be prepared for the Town Meeting.

It is obviously impossible, the TM said, to complete all the desireable sidewalks in one year. Consideration is being given to those most needed, within 1 and 1/2 miles of schools. Some of the most difficult problems are in areas where the construction will be most difficult, he said.

Lighting for the Tennis Courts will be asked for under Article 20. Bouchard said that this would cost $4300, and that it would be so installed that, if the High School were to be expanded in the direction of the tennis courts, the lights could be moved and used elsewhere.

A new bath house, at the Town Beach, to replace the present 30 year old structure, will cost $7500 the TM said. Fred Jaeschke, Supt of Public Buildings, has proposed that it be made of cement blocks. The cost figure is not complete, but is for the basic structure and toilets.

$30,000 is being asked for, for three playgrounds, which will be in close proximity to schools. The Town Manager's plans are for a basketball court, which will be depressed, so as to be flooded for winter skating, for play apparatus and a baseball diamond at each playground.

$6,000 will be asked for for the preparation of plans for a new Town Hall, and a similar figure for the preparation of plans for a new public library.

It was at this point that the conversation became more general.

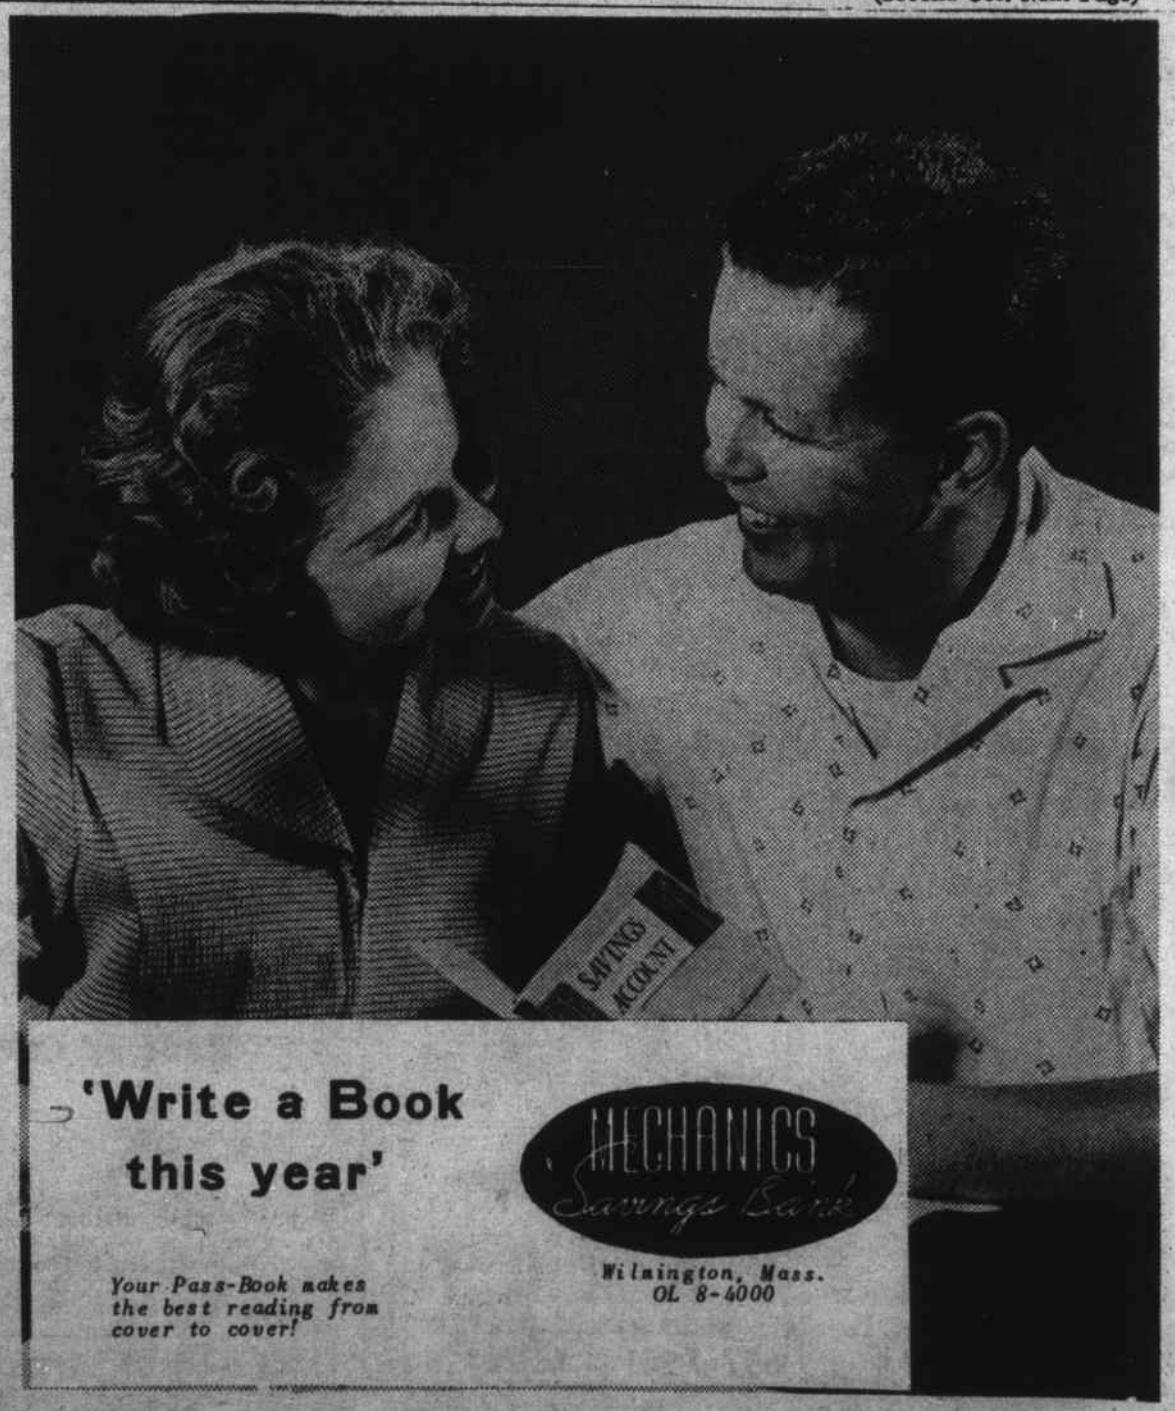

Bouchard said that he would be moving the Building Inspector and the Town Sanitarian, plus a clerk into the cellar, for lack of space upstairs.

A new Town Hall, he said, is badly needed, not only because of the lack of space requirements, but for a matter of town prestige, particularly with incoming corporations.

Rene LaRivee said he had been in favor of a new Town Hall for years, and cited his experiences when he

R & S BOWLING LEAGUE

The Rangers were handed a gift by the Vanguards (left over Xmas spirit) who forfeited the match. This put the Rangers in first place while the Falcons and Explorers were cutting each others throats in a match 4 - 4.

The Falcons suddenly came to life after dropping the first two strings. Each man bowled over 100 to establish a new team record of 446 for a single string. Maybe it doesn't pay to rile this team.

TM's Proposals

(Fr. Page 6)

was Civil Defense Director, in other Town Halls.

Mrs Drew thought the people would vote for a new library first.

Lloyd Bender said that it was easy to recognize the needs for a new town hall, and that he was depressed over the conditions for the workers there. The question, he said, was the ability of the town to pay for the many things it wants.

Speaking of the Library the TM said that if Wilmington were not a growing town he might be tempted to recommend the use of an old building, but, because it is growing a new library is needed. He estimated the case at about $250,000

The town will be asked to appropriate $350,000 for three new well fields and stations, one near Shawsheen Avenue, one near Aldrich Road, and one near Butters Row. Bouchard told the Selectmen that the Water Department, because of changes in the past two years, is now entirely self-supporting.

Other Business

Mrs Drew enquired as to the latest advice on Garden Apartment zoning. The TM said he had written a letter to the Planning Board three months ago - and was waiting Selectman Black remarked on the shortage of suitable industrial land in town (Bouchard had been looking for a 15 acre site). The TM said, that with 1400 acres of land zoned industrially, the town did not have much available land. Most of the Industrial land was inadequate and marginal, with poor sources of water.

Selectman Black wants to change the proccedures on Betterments for sewer extension, so as to get things started.

He cited the Town of Andover, which has completed a $1,400,000 sewer this past summer, and is now getting industry for which Wilmington had been trying.

Black said that if Wilmington did not 'make a start on the sewer line we'll never get anywhere!'

Rezoning News

The Selectmen were told that the articles submitted by various parties, for the Town Meeting, where not yet processed.

One of them is an article for the rezoning of land of Yentile and others, along Main Street, from Business back to Single Residence, the Selectmen were told.
